Preliminary Access Inquiry (PAI)

Ministerial Executive Summary

Issued by: Elmahrosa International

System: TEOS / ICBC Sovereign Infrastructure

Classification: Public Governance Specification

Purpose

The Preliminary Access Inquiry (PAI) Receipt is a formal cryptographic acknowledgment issued prior to any technical access, data sharing, or execution capability.

It confirms that a ministry or sovereign authority has formally reviewed and acknowledged:

- The International Civic Blockchain Constitution (ICBC)
- The TEOS Sovereign License (TESL)

This acknowledgment is mandatory before any further engagement.

What the PAI Receipt Does

Confirms official institutional acknowledgment
Creates an immutable, timestamped audit record
Prevents informal or undocumented onboarding
Protects national sovereignty and jurisdictional authority
Enables transparent oversight and accountability

What the PAI Receipt Does Not Do

It does not authorize execution
It does not move funds or assets
It does not grant automation or AI control

All execution requires a separate Authorization Stamp issued under constitutional authority.

Legal and Technical Guarantees

- Cryptographically signed by authorized officials
 - Timestamped and immutable once issued
 - Auditable via on-chain anchoring
 - Governed by constitutional law
 - Non-repudiable and legally defensible
